NIRMALA

Arena of Learning and Excellence

Editorial

A garden of purple radiance with inevitable expressions of divine grandeur with nobility and wisdom strengthening the aura of liberation of one's mind and feelings. To solicit this enigmatic foresight, the expedition of our college magazine continues with yet another effulgent volume pigmented with the hue of royal purple and harmonious green to express the ideals of the myth of one's reflection. Spirited with this virtue, it is delightful to adhere to the tradition of creating a new initiative to explore the dynamics of thoughts, as this rubric gets instilled through launching the legendary title "VOICES". This marks the certainty to unravel uncertainties through diverse deliberations.

Do we have a firm conviction to awaken all our perceptions? And are we going to be an eternal custodian in hurting the boundless environment? Laying down this manifesto to rethink on these concepts, remarkable articulations have been made on two themes for the academic year 2018 -2019. First, is on the sterling theme, "If not I then Who, If not Now then When?" and the second constructive theme is "Go Green Revolution". The themes will definitely illuminate the young minds to rejuvenate the inner potentials to achieve their goals with ardent diligence. The steps initiated in the campus obviously prompt the students to take direct action on any challenges ahead of them and their green actions will crystallise the student aspirants to adore nature.

Thus, to climb the stairway of true rewarding spirit, a sense of commitment and perseverance must be infused in one's attitude to achieve the desired goal. Only if the Saga of Voices get blown with fresh winds of change within oneself one can bring a profound metamorphosis.

Culminating the erudite views, this volume of the College Magazine exhibits a unique journey to shine upon the credentials of the power of human voices. Let us light up the benchmarks of harmony in thought, wisdom in action and compassion in heart to enlighten the upcoming generation.

Let the Odyssey begin...

Green Revolution

Man's fascination is to decode the mystery of life's purpose during its journey. Our experiences, struggles and the knowledge teach us that we are entrusted with a great responsibility to role-play as a world citizen. In accordance with our lofty ambitions and goals, we ought to adopt suitable strategies, find the right resources; execute the plan of action with diligence, face struggles and challenges fiercely and persistently and rejoice in the sun of victory when success materializes from our ardent dreams. Over our years of experiences, successes and failures, we realize our place and roles are irreplaceable. One's meaning of life is felt fulfilled when one has performed to one's best abilities. The great men and women of the world have unlocked this treasure and found their keys to accomplish the impossible and be instruments of great positive change in the lives of generations of people. This theme will motivate the aspirants to steer through their difficult times with ease, realize their mission through the clearing, and wrought the masterpiece of their thought, word and deed.
